Hi there! We just met with April Russell who is a Chamber member and has a startup company called Revolutionize Hollywood. April is proposing some ideas that might be of interest to you in regards to the street character experience for tourists in Hollywood. Components of her plan would inspire characters to be accountable and would offer some training that complies with city ordinances. She also talked about having a stage area where characters could showcase their personalities and give tourists a positive experience. She wants to be the voice of the 'good' performers out there and so we thought we would connect you to one another.
